

In Praise of "I Will Be Good."

"Tricia Burt is a master storyteller who could make a grocery list sound interesting. I Will Be Good reveals how life's rare epiphanies can both elude and transform us, and Burt tells it with humor and power."

Jamie Trowbridge, Publisher, Yankee Magazine

"Hilarious, poignant and inspirational. Her story is our story!"

Constance Costas, Richmond Editor, Skirt Magazine

"A wonderful, hilarious performance."

Sy Montgomery, NY Times bestselling author

"I Will Be Good made me laugh out loud!"

Peg Golden, Tony-award winning producer of Thoroughly Modern Millie

"Riveting...Burt's humor and delivery are superb."

Deborah H. Dluhy, Dean of the School and Deputy Director, MFA Boston

"Honest, touching, and inspirational...I loved it."

Callie Donnelly, Director of Theatre Arts, Charlotte Country Day School

"I Will Be Good is excellent, really excellent."

Dan Hurlin, playwright, director, performer

"Funny, wise performance...an artfully blended show-and-tell of hard lessons, serendipity and personal bliss."

The Tampa Tribune

"Resonates with people from all age groups and backgrounds."

The St. Pete Times

From the audience

"You had me laughing out loud and also quietly crying with so many stories that have the ring of familiarity. You were speaking for many of us -- the specifics may be slightly different -- but the themes and experiences are shared. I felt like I was being touched by perfectly pitched tuning forks -- just the right tone at just the right time -- amazing resonance. I love what you're doing and I find it remarkable for what it does and evokes ... it and you deserve a big stage."

Audience member, Peterborough

"Inspired and inspiring."

Audience member and visual artist, Boston